River Landscape In Summer

Date

1856

Primary Maker

William Mason Brown

Medium

Oil on canvas

Description

This is an oil on canvas painting depicting a vertical landscape dominated by two trees in the foreground: a graceful elm at the right which balances a more overgrown, gnarled tree (possibly an oak) at the left. Sheep and cows graze by river's edge at the right while the eye is led through the trees to a panoramic view beyond of lakes, villages and hills. The sky is equally tranquil and casts a suffused golden glow.
