

Large Ewer with Handle in the Form of a Dragon

Date

19th century

Primary Maker

Unknown

Medium

Porcelain | Dehua ware

Description

Tall tapered ewer has curved, faceted spout emerging from upside down t'ao t'ieh mask. The handle forms a dragon clinging to the side of the jar with tail and feet in low relief. Wide flat foot rim; bottom also glazed white. Interior unglazed except for the neck. Dehua ware: porcelain with ivory-hued glaze over appliquéd molded decoration

Dimensions

Overall: 11 3/8 in. (28.9 cm)