

Worcester Lozenge-Shaped Dish

Date

ca. 1780

Primary Maker

Worcester Porcelain Company

Medium

Porcelain

Description

This is a Worcester lozenge-shaped dish painted in shades of rose, purple, iron-red, yellow, and green. In the center is a cluster of flowers within a gilt oval panel reserved on a ground of gilt dots. The gilt-edged scalloped and barbed rim has an irregularly shaped underglaze blue border patterned with smaller gilt dots and oeil-de-perdrix and edged with rococo scrollwork suspending rose floral garlands. There is a script W mark in underglaze blue. The center has some glaze pits.

Dimensions

10 1/2 in. (26.7 cm)