Description

Twelve from a suite of sixteen. This chromogenic print is of a small brick and wooden structure. The brick on the lower half of the building has been painted yellow. There is a metal awning along the front of the building, below that is a divided screened in door in the middle of the façade. There is a window on both sides of the door that is boarded up. There is a sign on the awning that says "The Bar-B-Q Inn" between two Coca-Cola signs. The view of the building is from down the street. The side of another brick building is seen across the street.
